

Chef JJ's The Best Corporate Team Building Experience In Indianapolis

Companies that are looking for the most unique team building experience in Indianapolis will find it with an "Iron Chef" competition at Chef JJ's Downtown and Chef JJ's Back Yard. Those who think that team building is only about ropes and ladders will be pleasantly surprised when they step into Chef JJ's modern, state of the art facility and put on their chef's apron. The experience is one that will remain with participants long after the event is over. During a team building event at Chef JJ's, it is not uncommon to be working together to grill a gourmet pizza or steak to perfection on the Big Green Egg. The lasting effects of a team building event here include not only making return trips to Chef JJ's for grilling classes or beer dinners but also taking new skills home to impress family and friends.

If one is to do an online search for Chef JJ's team building, they will find plenty of rave reviews from fans just like Shani Johnson who had this to say, "We had our team building event here and it was absolutely perfect! It was a pleasure working with the staff beforehand to create an experience that was just right", she went on to say "The format of the team challenge had the perfect flow and it was enjoyable for all! We have a couple of finicky appetites, and most of us have little to no experience on a grill, so I was a bit nervous about everyone being able to make something that we would actually want to eat once it was completed! The chef managed to teach us about food, seasoning, meats, and the Big Green Egg while guiding us through the process, but yet giving us plenty of room to be creative. The end results were 2 delicious meals (one from each team) to share and enjoy. You'll be amazed at the ideas that you can come up with when you're on a time crunch!"

Teams are led by the chefs, through several different challenges that encourage teamwork, creativity, cooperation and organization. Each participant works together with fresh, local ingredients to create a delicious and bountiful meal that will satisfy an entire group, all while grilling on the Big Green Egg. This is truly a unique team building event that every participant will enjoy. Any company in the greater Indianapolis area would be wise to check this out. After attending a recent team building event, Carol Honeycutt said, " Amazing place. Had an amazing team event here for work. Would highly recommend anyone going there."

Chef JJ's has two convenient locations. Chef JJ's Downtown is located within walking distance to all major hotels, the Indiana Convention Center and Lucas Oil Stadium and has a relaxing patio as well as a rooftop garden and dining area. Chef JJ's Backyard is located in Broad Ripple with a beautiful patio overlooking the White River. Both locations feature state of the art sound systems, flat screen TV's and WiFi.
